PETITION MAY START RIVER BANK REPAIR

As the result of a petition signed by 84 Bethel citizens some time ago, asking Congressman James C. Oliver to see if something could be done to remedy conditions on the bank of the Androscoggin River near Riverside Cemetery, it is reported that the District Engineer of the War Department at Boston has been requested to discuss the matter with local parties. In times of high water there is a serious flood hazard at this location, and during the 1936 flood much damage was done to the smaller buildings and the property on the fair grounds near by. It is hoped that this action by the government will provide an effective and permanent remedy for this condition.

SKILLINGTON FIRE CONFINED TO ROOF

The fire alarm was sounded at 11:55 Monday morning calling the pumper to a fire at the home of Gerry Morgan at Skillington. Sparks from a chimney had ignited the dry shingles on the roof of the house in several places, but a stream from the booster tank soon extinguished the blaze.

JOINT SCHOOL COMMITTEE TURNS DOWN CLERK HIRE

The annual meeting of the joint committee of the Bethel-Greenwood-Gilead-Newry-Upton Union District was held at 7:30 p. m. May 5 at the Bethel Grammar School. The records of the last annual meeting were read. The Joint Committee was organized by electing F. E. Russell of Bethel, chairman, and Mrs. Lester Tebbetts of Greenwood, secretary.

A communication from the Superintendent of Schools concerning the matter of employing a clerk for the Superintendent of Schools was introduced by Mr. Daniels of Gilead. The chairman announced that as the law creating the joint committee and defining its duties makes no mention of a clerk he would rule that action towards securing a clerk by the joint committee would be out of order unless proposed by unanimous consent. That consent was lacking.

In the informal discussion that followed, a member from Greenwood having six schools said that Greenwood was very much opposed to helping pay for a clerk. A member from Bethel having 15 schools, voiced the opposition of Bethel to helping pay for a clerk. Then members from the small remaining three towns having six schools in all spoke earnestly in favor of a clerk for the Superintendent so that she could put all her time in the school room visiting.

The chairman suggested that the Superintendent use their part of the Superintendent's time, 6-27, for visiting the six schools in their territory and that they use the money, $100 that they had expected to pay towards clerk, for hiring a clerk to do the office work for their towns. It was then voted to adjourn.

F. E. Russell, Chairman

Joseph Maddocks, who with Mrs. Maddocks has spent the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., was in town Tuesday. He returned to New Haven, Conn., where Mrs. Maddocks will join him, and they will return to Maine soon for the summer months.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER IGNORED

On Tuesday of this week the Sunday School class of Mrs. R. R. Tibbetts gave her a surprise party in Garland Chapel. When Mrs. Tibbetts entered the Chapel at six o'clock, presumably to attend a committee meeting, she was greeted by the class, singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

In the cozy kitchen a supper was prepared by Mrs. John Poole, Mrs. Henry Bennett Mrs. P. S. Chapman and Mrs. Kenneth Wight. Covers were laid for 21 at a table with decorations of candles and spring flowers.

Barbara Poole read a poem written by Addie Kendall Mason. The class, consisting of the following girls, presented the guest of honor with a mahogany finish utility table: Barbara Poole, Ida Clough, Elizabeth Gorman, Ivy Philbrook, Barbara Coolidge, Carol Robertson, Marion Chapman, Rosalie George, Carolyn Wight, Ruth Bennett, Dorothy Fish, Peggy Hanscom, Beatrice Forbes, Lillian Courn, Alice Bennett, Janice Young and Marilyn Marshall were unable to be present.

After supper the enjoyable program given with singing of hymns and floor games, was enjoyed. Vocal duet, "Little Sir Echo," Carolyn Wight and Ida Clough; encore, "The Umbrella Man," Barbara Coolidge at the piano. Trumpet solo, Carol Robertson, accompanied by Carolyn Wight on piano.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford of South Portland were in town Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Garey is in Norway today, the guest of Mrs. Ina Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll O. Brown of South Paris were Sunday visitors to Harry Hutchinson's.

Miss Margaret Herrick of Augusta was a week-end guest of Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Wallace.

Miss Rosalie Gould of Skowhegan is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchinson.

Verne Smith of Kezar Falls is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thurston this week.

MIDDLE INTERVALE CHILD RESCUED FROM RIVER

After 20 minutes in the waters of the Androscoggin last Monday afternoon, Alforetta Bartlett, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bartlett of Middle Intervale, was rescued by Earl Brooks. Suffering from the shock and cold, the child was revived by Mrs. Leon Chandler of Dryden, a passing motorist, who applied artificial respiration. Mrs. Bartlett, after attempts to reach the little girl in the strong current, rushed through the woods to the home of Rev. D. S. Brooks on the Holt Hill road, and Mr. Brooks and his son Earl hurried to the river where the child was floating in the whirling current.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett and family live in the former Badger place which is near the river bank and opposite the home of the Bartlett Brothers in Hanover.

IMPROVING

He-You are more beautiful every day.
She-Hardly that, I think. It is just that your qualities of perception and taste are growing better.

Look at Home First!

EVERY community is in itself a mutual benefit society. In the end, with normal conditions and local industry, it succeeds and survives in such proportion as its people are interdependent. If its inhabitants are given to the habit of viewing each neighbor with jealousy or suspicion, and are to a like extent gullible as strangers present their wares, its days as a unit or center of life and living are numbered. We feel that it is a duty of each citizen to foster a community spirit, to encourage and support home industry and initiative. By making all purchases at home, or as near home as possible, and defending and broadcasting the advantages of our chosen community we can do our part.

"THEY TELL ME"

A lot of people think that everything is going to the dogs or may be worse and can't see a thing but what is worse than when they were kids. Everything was all right then I guess. It seems to me that a good many things are better now. They say that in the old days everybody used to go to church twice a day and listen to sermons of 2 or three hours apiece. They must have been pretty bad even if they needed that. But from what I have heard and read I guess they did. But this church business is something that people even now could benefit by. Here in this town for instance there are 4 good churches that are vacant most of the time. In the old days if there wasn't a minister who could travel five or six miles and find a crowd and hold it after he got there, there would likely be a local preacher, inspired and called as much as Henry Ward Beecher was, who was there every Sunday and perhaps during the week to care for his flock. The people themselves, all of us who don't go to church, are to blame for this. But the ministers too, they may be different. It is interesting to see the good work that the united parishes are doing. I hear that this was talked of here in town a few years ago, but they turned it down. I should think we had better think about it again.

40 YEARS AGO IN NEWS

May 10, 1899

C. L. Davis will commence running his ice cart Monday, May 15. Wm. E. Chapman and Alonzo Penley have opened a store in Chas. Mason's building.

The proprietors of the Bethel House have just issued a 24-page souvenir of Bethel, to be used as an advertising medium.

Found dead on Mill Hill on the morning of May 6, 1899, Bill, the Talker, aged two years, only crow of Millard Clough. Buried May 6, 1 p. m. Peace to his ashes.

South Paris—It is rumored that Electric Park, our summer evening resort, will be run this summer.

Gilead—A D. Wight is building quite an addition to his barn—Fred Goodnow has received a permit from the fish commissioner, to catch suckers in the creeks—Millard Connor, dug, a few days ago, some potatoes, which were none the worse for the long winter's reign.

Swan's Corner—Undoubtedly St. John Haglings has the two largest sheep in the State of Maine; one weighs 261 pounds, and the other 223 pounds.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

"STOPPING" ACTION

Speeding train, taken at box-camera shutter speed. Not blurred, because moving almost directly toward camera.

THE best way to get clear, sharp action pictures is to use a camera with fast shutter action—and, of course, a correspondingly fast lens. However, many of us don't have fast cameras. So, to take pictures of real action, showing fast-moving objects without blur, we must utilize several simple tricks.

The first trick is—shoot moving objects when they are coming almost straight toward or straight away from you. An object appears to move much slower when receding or approaching and, in a picture, is less likely to blur.

A second trick—move the camera so that the speeding object is kept centered in the view finder as you shoot. This trick is especially good with boats, motorcycles, and racing automobiles. The background is blurred—but the moving object will be sharp. Of course, the camera must be moved smoothly and steadily, and a little practice is necessary. You will find that with a little practice, pictures taken in this manner are very effective.

A third trick—snap action during momentary pauses. These occur in most sports. A player is moving rapidly—he halts for just a fraction of a second, to turn or change direction—and in that split-second you get your picture. You must keep alert to catch these pauses—but they're worth it!

Take a couple of rolls of film and try a few action shots, using the tricks I've described. You'll be surprised at the things you can do with your simple box camera or inexpensive folding model!

GOULD 22—SOUTH PARIS 6

The Gould team pounded out 27 safeties including eight doubles to defeat South Paris 22-6 in their initial home game. It didn't seem to make much difference what the pitchers threw up there, they would just hang away at it. Only the slow condition of the outfield prevented many of the hits from going to triples or homers.

The team also looked better defensively and played almost perfect ball for six innings until they were in the lead 17-1. Then they became careless and made five of their six errors.

GOULD 2—RUMFORD J. V. 1

Gould won their second straight game Saturday afternoon by defeating the Rumford Junior Varsity 3-1. This was a rather light-hitting game with both sides having difficulty getting hits with men on bases.

Rumford opened the scoring in the second when Bulger reached when Smith dropped his pop-up, took second on O'Richards' hit to left. Gould came back with a run in the fifth when Brown walked, stole second, went to third as Wentzell was being thrown out, and scored as the right fielder dropped Young's bid for a hit. Rumford threatened again in the sixth when they filled the bases with none out but Crockett pitched himself out of this hole very well. Gould then came back to score in each of the next two innings to sew up the game.

The pitching of C. Crockett was the high light of the game. He worked very easily and allowed only five hits and retired nine men via the strike-out route. The defensive play of the locals was somewhat improved as Smith, using a new glove, made all the errors on rather easy chances.

The next meeting will be held at Berlin Sept. 11.

Cats as Large as Lions

Lived in Maryland Cave

Monster cats, as big as lions or tigers and probably just as fierce, were the terrors of western Maryland about a million years ago. Bones of these creatures, together with those of 46 other animals which lived near the city of Cumberland at some interval early in the last Ice age, have been described by a Smithsonian Institution paleontologist.

These bones were gathered from a limestone cavern, opened when a railroad cut was being constructed, and represent a strange assortment of creatures ranging from mastodon to crocodile.

The presumption is that in Ice age days the cavern was a natural trap with an opening directly on top through which the animals fell. Once inside, there was no way to get out.

It was a curious assemblage of northern and southern animals. Bones of wolverines and martens, types now found only in the far northern woods, are mingled with those of tapirs, which now range no farther north than Central America.

This can only mean, the Smithsonian man believes, that the bones were assembled only over a very considerable period, possibly several thousand years, during which there was a notable change in the climate. The Ice age extended over approximately two million years. But during this time there were several retreats and advances of the glaciers with intervals of relatively warm climate.

EVA COOK NELSON

Eva May Cook, wife of John W. Nelson of Wilton, passed away at her home on Highland Avenue, Tuesday morning, April 25, after an illness of almost a year, the greater part of which time she had been a great sufferer. Mrs. Nelson was born in Boston, May 17, 1888, the daughter of Robert H. and Martha M. Cook. When about twelve years of age her parents moved to Newry, and there on Sept. 16, 1908, she was united in marriage with John W. Nelson of Palermo. For a little more than two years they resided in Bethel, coming to Wilton in July, 1911, where Mr. Nelson opened a print shop which he has operated ever since. Mrs. Nelson assisting him in his work so long as her health and strength permitted. Three sons were born to them, Manley and Walter of Wilton, and Wesley, who is a student at Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Mrs. Nelson was a woman of great sweetness of character, a sincere Christian; forgetful of self, she often worked beyond her strength in doing for others. She was a woman of great capabilities and an indefatigable worker in her home, her church and the various organizations and lodges of which she was a member.

She helped organize and was the first President of the World Service Club, later serving another term as President and for several years holding the office of Secretary-Treasurer. She was a member and Past President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Ralph S. Hosmer Post, A. L.; a member of Wilson Lake Rebekah Lodge, the W. C. T. U., and of the Congregational Church.

Surviving, besides the husband and sons, are her mother, Mrs. E. Melendy, a little granddaughter, Joyce Deanne, whose coming was eagerly awaited and whose presence was such a joy to Mrs. Nelson during the last few weeks of her life; two brothers, Walter H. Cook of Portland and C. A. Cook of Wilton, and a sister, Mrs. George Peary of New Sharon.

The funeral service was held at the home on Thursday afternoon, the Rev. Albert P. Watson officiating. The American Legion Auxiliary attended in a body. The bearers were Harlow Melendy, Harry Lake, Thomas Lake and Robert Peary. Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Cook, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cook, Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. George Peary, New Sharon; Mrs. Edna Smith and Mrs. Gertrude Boyker, Bethel; Mrs. Selma Chapman, Newry; Mrs. Netta Nelson, Lester Nelson, Madeline Nelson and Roydon Curtis, Palermo; Mrs. Theresa Greeley, Windsor; Earl Curtis, East Wilton; Earle C. Nelson, Watertown, Mass.; Mrs. C. A. Stolt, and Robert Peary, Farmington. (Franklin Journal)

CHARLES H. COBURN

Charles Henry Coburn passed away at the Rumford Community Hospital Tuesday morning. He had been taken to the hospital Monday, suffering from pneumonia of which he had been ill but a few days.

Mr. Coburn was born at North Bethel 67 years ago, the son of John P. and Julia Littlehale Coburn. For many years he lived in this town, and several years ago he went to Andover to live with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Coburn. During the past winter he has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Robinson, going back to Andover several days ago, where he was taken ill.

Survivors include his brother, Edwin F. Coburn, Andover; and two cousins, Mrs. Nellie Percy of Rumford and Mrs. Nora Godfrey of Boston.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at Greenleaf's funeral home, Rev. George W. M. Keyes of Andover officiating. Interment was in the Riverside Cemetery.

Canada's Big Rail System Ready for Royal Tour

FOR the past two months many officers and employees of the Canadian National Railways have been busy making preparations for the part Canada's big publicly-owned rail system is to play in connection with the tour of Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, on this continent. The cars in which the King and Queen will ride, as well as some of the other units of the Royal Train, have been redecorated and refitted in the shops of the railway. The train has been painted Royal blue with silver and gold trim. Five giant C. N. R. locomotives, to be used on the Royal Tour, have been completely overhauled and repainted in the Royal colors. The dining car department of the National System will have full charge of the catering for the Royal Train both throughout Canada and during the visit to the United States.

More than 2,000 employees, from vice-presidents down to car cleaners, will be engaged in the operation and servicing of the train over Canadian National lines.

Special functions in connection with the tour are to be held at hotels operated by the railway and members of the hotel staffs have been specially trained for these occasions.

The pictures show: Jasper Park Lodge in Jasper National Park where the King and Queen will rest on June 1 and 2 during their journey through the Canadian Rockies.

Meaning of Name Gratia

The name Gratia is a contraction of the Latin Gratiana, meaning "of exceeding grace." The Latin root of the word may mean not only "grace" but "divine favor," "esteem," "kindness" or "thankfulness." The Italian forms Graziosa, "gracious," and Graziella, "thankful," come from the same root, and Gracienne means "little graceful one." It will be observed that "grace" may have both a physical and spiritual interpretation. St. Gratia was an early virgin martyr.

H. ALTON BACON
BRYANT POND, MAINETubers, Bulbs, Corms,
Referred to as 'Bulbs'

There is a difference between tubers, bulbs and corms, all of which for lack of more exact knowledge, notes a writer in the New York Herald-Tribune. A tuber is a fleshy underground stem and the common potato is a typical example. Here we have a modified stem which clearly shows bark, wood and pith, and it also has a terminal end usually referred to as seed end, whereas the other buds are "eyes."

Bulbs also are underground stems, but of a different character. The common onion is a bulb with a cone-shaped center stem surrounded by a mass of fleshy overlapping leaves which either lie close together or may be quite loosely attached as in many kinds of lilies.

Bulbs always show this scale structure. Corms differ from bulbs in having no scales. They are in this respect more like tubers and like these are also underground stems transformed into storage organs to carry the plants from one season to the next. Corms, generally speaking, are flat, like those of the gladiolus. They bear the leaves on top and develop a mass of roots on the bottom.

Polo is several centuries old. Polo was played by Chinese emperors as early as the Seventh century A. D. Women are recorded to have taken to the game, but used donkeys instead of horses.

Cloth Names Are Traced
To Some Other Countries

Many of our names for cloth come to us from the Orient. Calico is from Calicut, India, the city from which it was first imported. Doubtless at first the term used was Calicut cloth, but phrases often shrink in usage, and calico was an easy evolution, says the Kansas City Star. Madras, also in India, gave us the cloth which bears its name. This was first made from silk and cotton, but the name is applied to the same weave in cotton also, a fabric which is much used for men's shirts.

Damask is from Damascus, noted long ago for its fine steel blades and for its silks. Damask is characterized by woven designs which represent flowers or conventional figures. It was originally made of silk, but the name was later applied to the same weave in silk, cotton, rayon or wool used for hangings and upholsteries, and to linen woven for table napery and towels.

Linsey-woolsey is an old English name from linsel, linen and wolsye, wool. Many woolen fabrics bear English names, such as melton, from a town of that name in Leicestershire and worsted, from a town in Norfolk.

Shrub Causes Paralysis

The coyotilla, a wild shrub of Mexico and the Southwest, causes permanent paralysis when eaten by live stock.

Large Opal Mining Center

That Kenya colony, in East Africa, was once a large opal mining center was disclosed by discoveries made in a cave near Nakuru. Excavations revealed that the cave was used by prehistoric man as a place of burial, the method being to dig a hole, place a body in it and then light a fire on top. Eventually, when the dead had to be buried, excavations were made through the charred remains of those interred years before. Among the objects found were beautifully carved opals, jade and rock crystal beads. The excavators believe that traders about 4000 B. C. went there from the Mediterranean to buy opals from East African mines.

The Hairy Ainus

The hairy Ainus are survivors of a people—believed to be Caucasians—who once occupied Japan. Now in that country their status is similar to that of the American Indians in this country.

Sunday School at 10 o'clock.

Services Sunday morning at 10:45.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all churches of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, May 14.

The Golden Text is: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened; not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life" (II Corinthians 5: 4).

The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Lie not one to another as lying that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Colossians 3: 1, 9-10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.
